per Shows a Decline; Bears Unopposed

New York, N. Y., Oct, 38.—Move-ments of stock through the morning seasion were irregular. An undertone of heaviness was noticeable during the early trading, but before noon this largely disappeared and some brisk advances were seased.

dvances were scored.
Sentiment was affected by the cir-ulation of reports concerning the likelihood of further dissolution suits likelihood of further dissolution suits against corporations. American Smelting was most affected by these reports and was conspicuously weak. Trading was not large, as operators preferred to await news of the progress of the American Tobacco hearing before taking any risks.

During the second hour the market shook off its early heaviness and there was a rally in the active stocks from 1 to 14 above the lowest Union Pacific rose a point above Saturday's Pacific rose a point above Saturday's close, and United States Steel, Reading, Lehigh Valley and other issues moderate fractions. American Smolting made up most of its loss of two points. American Tobacco issues were closer but the general bond market beary, but the general bond market held well.

Renewed weakness in American Smetting checked further improvement, but there was a subsequent strong rise in all quarters.

The close was heavy. Bear operators encountered no opposition in attacking American Smelling. The absence of support and the closing out of the stop loss orders are bled them to depress. support and the closing out of the stollows orders enabled them to depress the price to below 60, which was more than three points away from last week's close. Moderate recessions occurred in other stocks with United States Steel reacting a point and Amalgamated Copper falling to the lowest of the day.

An earthquake which occurred in England on Feb. 8, 1750, frightened to death Aaron Hill, the poet and visionary projector. Of Hill's voluminous writings only an epigram or two are now remembered, but he was a pugnacions bank who so terrified Pope that the spiteful little satirist would only walk abroad with loaded pistols and accompanied by his big Daniel dog Bounce. Auron Hill is one of the many literary worthies connected with the city of Westminster. He was educated at Westminster school, lived in "Petry France" and, after squandering his foctone in schemes for extracting oll from beechnots and planting vineyards in Essex, was buried in the cloisters of Westminster abbey.

many serious minded people, under the pressure of care and work, would do well to lay to heart. "The most thoroughly wasted of all days is that on which one has not isughed." It has often been said that only they who take life with profound seriousness can be really humorous, for they alone perceive those fundamental contrasts which make humor possible. It is true Emerson hated to laugh, but his radiant smile was better than laughter. Carlyle, on the contrary, was given to earth shaking laughter-a kind of Berserker laughter, not without undertones of pathos running through it. Lincoln's love of stories, both in the hearing and the telling, was a safety valve for one whose tramendous burdens fell on a temperament deeply
